

UK-India

English
Partnerships
Forum

Opportunities in English Language

UK-India ELT Collaborations

Current state and future directions: A Survey

January 2013

In partnership with

Sufficient funds

Sufficient support

Sufficient collaboration

Critical Success Factors

Syllabus framing/redesign

Textbooks and material development

Learning and training

Reasons

Availability of funds

Professional Development Opportunities

Knowledge
sharing

Networking
opportunities

Motivation

UK-India

English Partnerships Forum

Opportunities in English Language

Impact of collaboration: On institutions

Community building

Publishing / training manuals

Professional networking

Learning to adapt new training materials to current institution

Impact of collaboration: On individuals

Academic enhancement

Improved understanding among different cultures

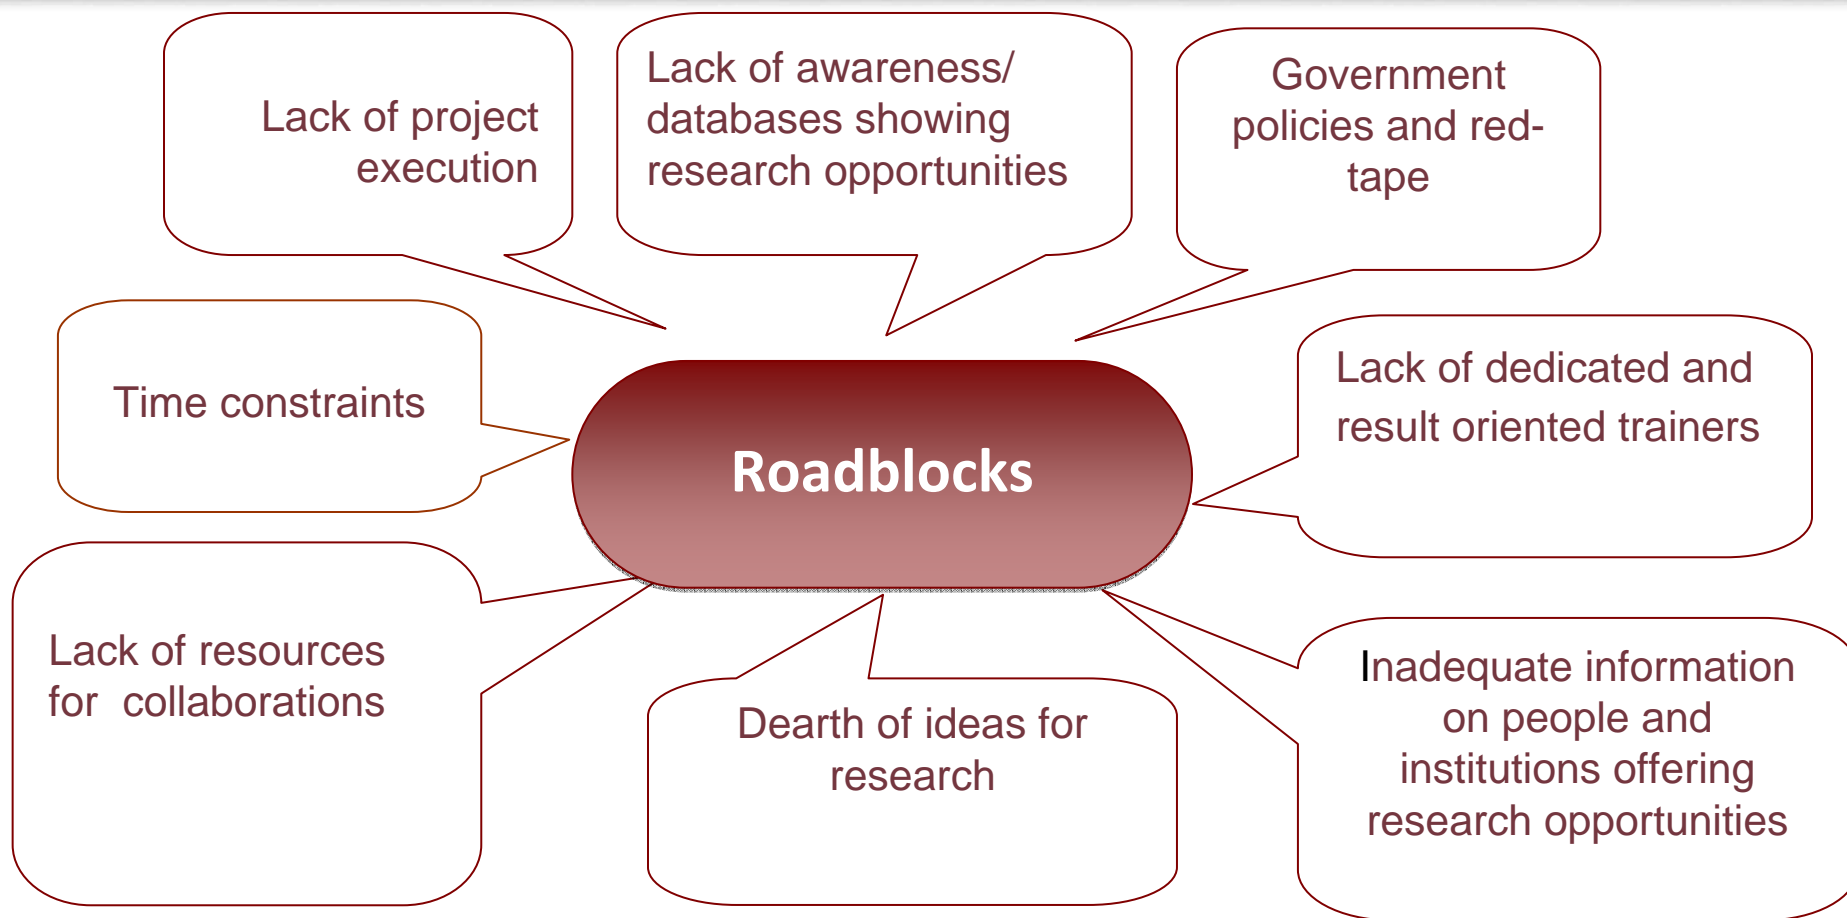

More awareness about aspects related to teaching English

Personal and professional development

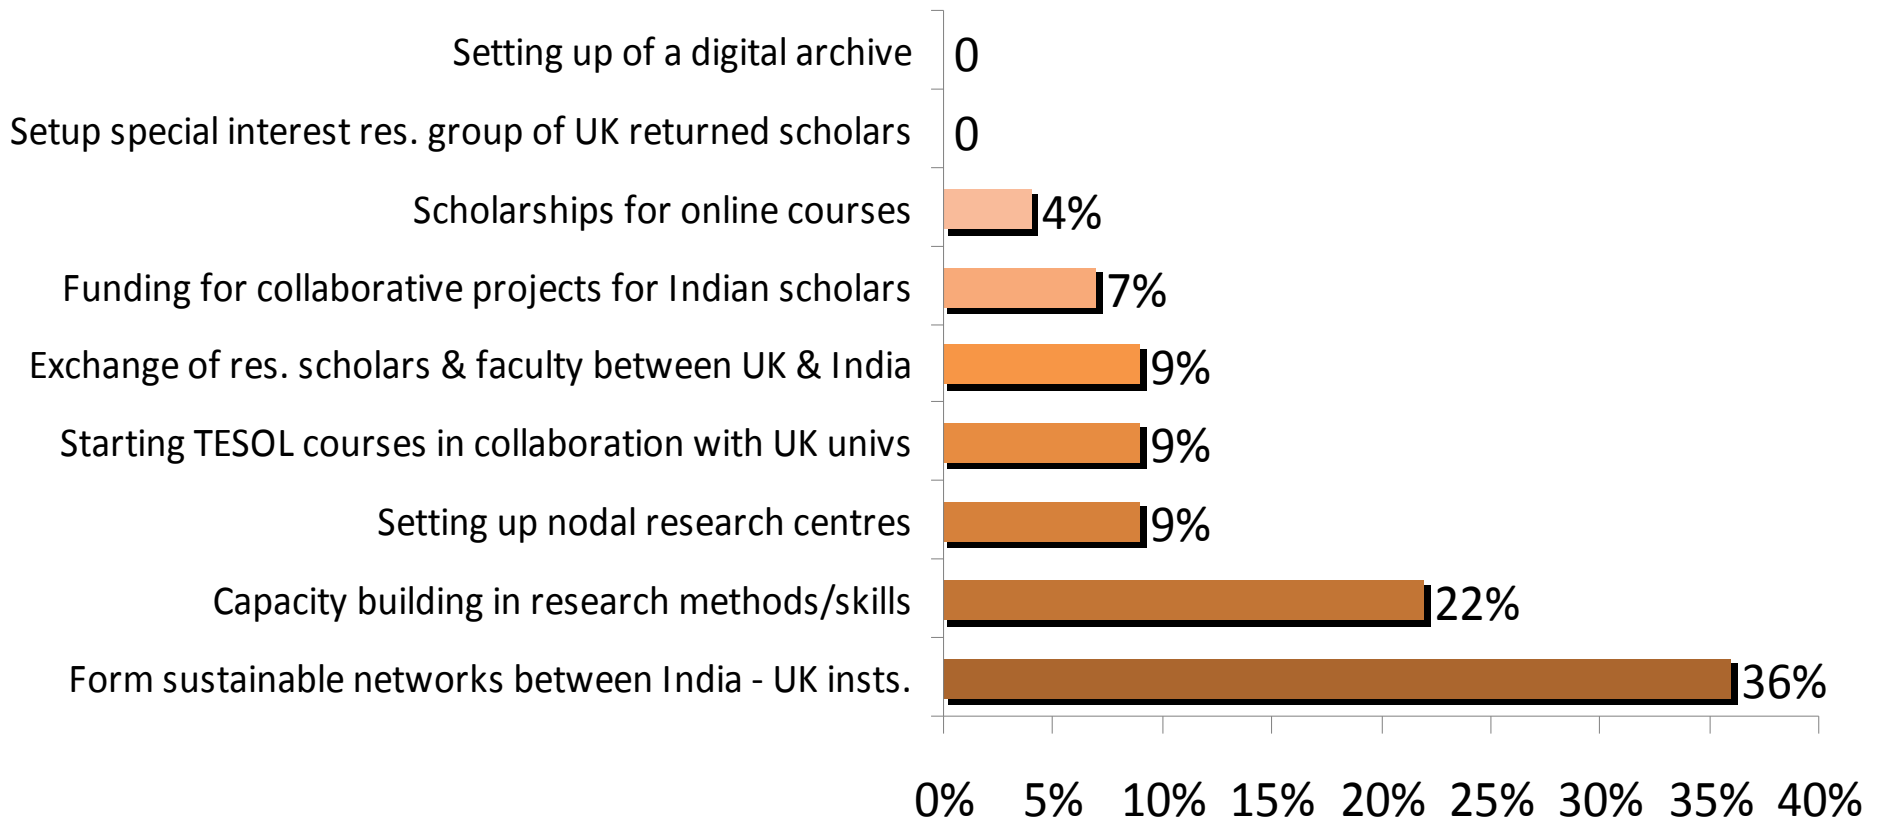

In partnership with

Factors that stimulate ELT research collaborations

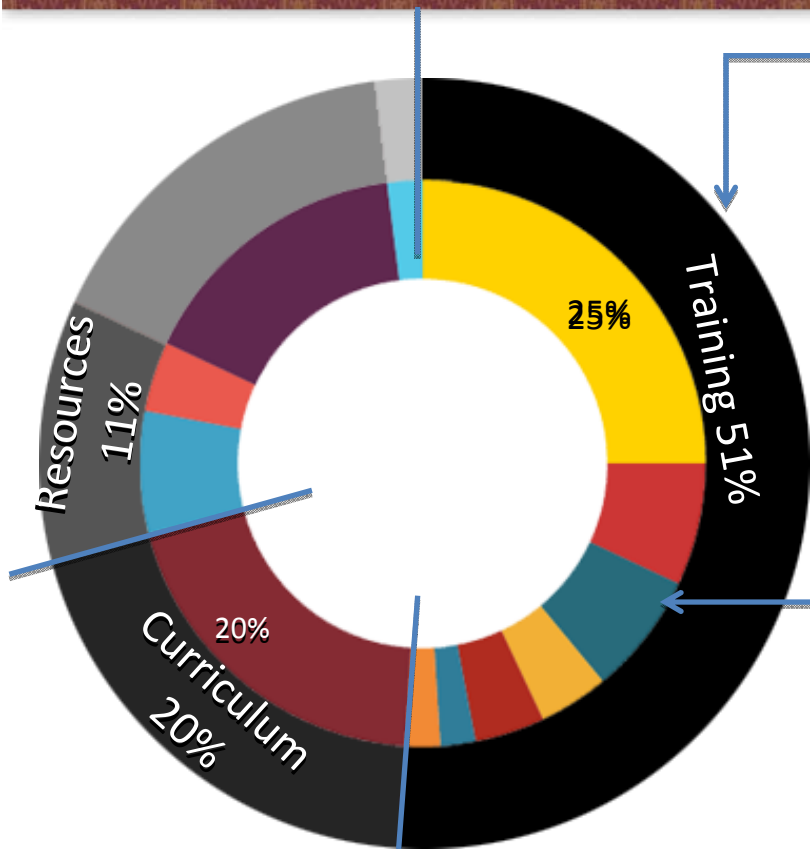

Broad areas of ELT association in future

- Training related aspects ★
- Curriculum/Syllabus ★
- Resources Development
- Others
- No response

Specific areas of ELT association in future

- Teacher training
- Classroom interaction
- Teaching skills
- Pronunciation
- Teaching Grammar
- Assessment
- Methodology
- Curriculum/Syllabus
- Materials development
- Textbook development
- Others
- No response

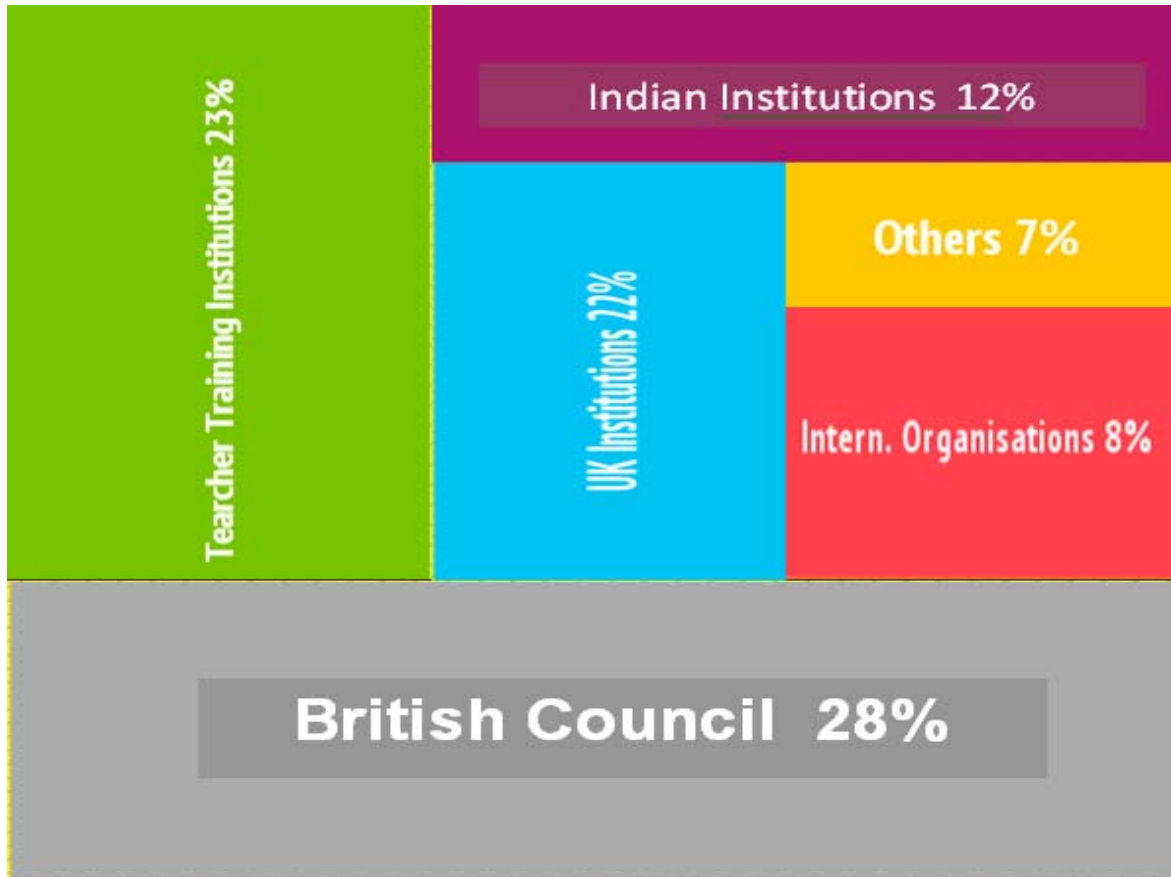

Teacher training and its sub-components are clearly the most impactful to offer

UK-India

English Partnerships Forum

Opportunities in English Language

Preferred institution for collaboration

In partnership with

UK-India

English Partnerships Forum

Opportunities in English Language

Four windows of opportunity for UK

51% rated teacher training and its sub-components as most impactful

83% interested in future collaborations

36% prefers forming sustainable networks between UK and Indian institutions in future

50% prefers UK Institutions including the British Council for future collaborations- grab the opportunity

In partnership with

